

SEVENTEENTH SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME

ENTRANCE ANTIPHON Cf. Ps 68 (67): 6-7, 36, 1
Deus in loco sancto suo

God is in his holy place, God who unites those who dwell in his house; he himself gives might and strength to his people.

✠ Let God arise, and let his enemies be scattered; and let those who hate him flee before his face.

Introit Hymn Option 1 LM, 8888

Ant. Our God is in his holy place, those dwelling there, he does unite.
To all who live in God' own house,
he will provide them strength and might.

Vs. 1 O God, arise! and by Thy might let all Thy foes be put to flight, drive them as smoke before Thine ire;
As wax is molten by the fire.

Vs. 2 Blest be the Lord, for us he cares
and day by day our burdens bears, God is to us a God of love,
who sends deliv'rance from above.

Dox. To Father, Son, and Holy Ghost,
the God whom heav'n and earth adore,
be glory as it was of old,
is now, and will be evermore.

Text: Psalm 68: 6-7, 36, 1, 20 Deus in loco sancto suo;

JESU DULCIS: Jesus the very thought is sweet

← you could use these verses from the same Psalm 68
as verses 2 and 3

← you could use this doxology as verse 4, and then return to the antiphon as verse 5.

Introit Hymn OPTION 2!

1. God of all time in his dwelling place blest;
unites those who dwell in his house, and gives rest.
Be there for all people, and give us, we pray,
your strength and your might, Lord, for the length of our days.

2. Let God arise and his foes put to flight,
Let those who would hate him now flee from his sight.
To Father all glory and laud we acclaim,
with Son and with Spirit we worship the same.
